so im thinking the pdf document will contain links to videos and sound clips. some that i took on the day and some that i've written and recorded since. is it definitely ok if it doesn't relate directly to the show and theme of the show? just what ive been thinking about since visiting the show?

and how explicit do you want me to be in explaining my thought process to get to my final outcome for deep dive? or doesn't it really matter?

im approaching it like this cus writing is usually a process i do to get somewhere else, yet contains the bulk of the idea or most important part of the work. which i thought also tied in with the concept of the show nicely. lemme know what ya think
